

OWEN BROWN

SUSTAINABILITY POLICY

As an organisation, GL events Owen Brown is aware of issues concerning sustainability and the impact that our operations have on our stakeholders. As a result GL events Owen Brown is committed to leading in the field of sustainable events and are implementing BS 8901, the British Standard for sustainable event management. This means we are committed to considering the environmental, social and economic impacts of our event activities and business operations throughout the UK.

Our purpose is to lead the way in providing innovative solutions for the event industry through our experience and outstanding expertise.

We recognise the principles of sustainable development including integrity, honesty, transparency and stewardship and will endeavour to uphold these throughout our operations.

Our core business values are innovation, sustainability and customer focus.

We have identified our significant sustainability issues and created the following objectives to align with them:

- To create a simple effective stakeholder communication strategy
- To create a sustainable transportation policy
- To identify and measure site waste, yard waste and office waste
- To measure our utility usage and implement initiatives to reduce energy
- To develop a sustainable procurement policy to include a preferred supplier list that encompasses sustainability
- To develop a formal personal development procedure to support staff learning and knowledge transfer

It goes without saying that we will ensure we adhere to all legal and other requirements that our organisation subscribe to, in relation to our event industry products and services.

We are committed to continuous improvement and will review our policy on an annual basis.

Our policy is available to all of our stakeholders and we would welcome your feedback at sustainability@owen-brown.co.uk
